1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/4/05 has been entered.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. Claims 1-2, 6- 8, 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshida et al, U.S. Patent No. 4,542,060 in view of Reeder et al, U.S. Patent No. 6,468,931 as set forth in the previous action.
4. Claims 1- 8, 12, 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshida in view of Reeder as applied to claims above and further in view of Gessner, U.S. Patent No. 5,593,768 as set forth in the previous action.
5. Claims 9-12, 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kaiser et al, U.S. Patent No. 5,491,016 in view of Reeder et al, U.S. Patent No. 6,468,931 as set forth in the previous action.
6. Applicant's arguments filed 4/4/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Yoshida does not teach a fabric comprising polypropylene fibers in one layer and polyethylene/polypropylene bicomponent fibers in another layer. However, Applicant claims a first layer which comprises a blend of a polypropylene fiber and a polypropylene/polyethylene bicomponent fiber and a second layer of polypropylene fiber. Yoshida teaches at col. 2, line 60 – col. 3, line 37 a fabric comprising a first ply A which may comprise polypropylene fibers and a second ply B which may comprise a combination of polypropylene fibers and sheath/core fibers having a polypropylene core and a polyethylene sheath. Therefore Yoshida teaches the claimed fabric. Applicant's arguments with regard to the examples in Yoshida have been considered but Yoshida clearly discloses the claimed combination of fibers and layers at columns 2 and 3.

7. With regard to the particular types of embossing and calendaring roll, Applicant argues that Reeder does not teach the particularly claimed bond configuration. However, since Reeder teaches employing a smooth roll and a patterned roll, the claimed bond pattern having a relatively non-indented side and a embossed surface would necessarily result. Since Reeder teaches that the pattern roll and smooth roll are suitable for use for bonding nonwoven fabric laminates, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used this configuration to form the bonds in Yoshida.

8. With regard to Kaiser, Applicant argues that the bicomponent fiber web is buried within the fabric construction while in the instant invention the layers define outer surfaces. However, the instant claims employ open language and do not preclude the presence of additional layers. Additionally, since Kaiser teaches the two claimed layers they would be considered the outer layers of the two claimed layers.

9. With regard to the bond pattern, as set forth above, , since Reeder teaches employing a smooth roll and a patterned roll, the claimed bond pattern having a relatively non-indented side and a embossed surface would necessarily result. Since Reeder teaches that the pattern roll and smooth roll are suitable for use for bonding nonwoven fabric laminates, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used this configuration to form the bonds in Kaiser.
